Health surveillance

Making sure employees are working safely

It's an old saying – 'better to be safe than sorry'. But keeping an eye on health issues in the workplace is vital. And in some industries, it's mandatory.

We can help employers make sure their employees are fit for work, and ensure the workplace is a safe environment for them. And above all else, we'll make sure that employers meet their legal requirements.

How does it work?

Employees will complete an extensive medical questionnaire and then have a physical examination with one of our occupational health advisors. Our health surveillances can cover:

1.

1. Vision screening
2. Lung function testing
3. Hearing tests

4. Hand arm vibration (HAV) screening
5. Fitness to drive assessments
6. Fitness testing
7. Confined spaces medicals (with or without breathing apparatus)

We also do statutory medicals for asbestos, ionising radiation, lead and off-shore working.

Get in touch! If you need another test or assessment including, we'd be happy to help.
